

Fictional compliance summary, page 1

This fictional summary imitates the style of a regulatory note. It is NOT law and must not be relied on. Advisers must keep a record of each client meeting, including the date and the advice discussed. Records of client meetings must be stored in the approved platform.

Fictional compliance summary, page 2

Advisers must disclose to the client, before giving advice, which product providers they work with. A client must be given a copy of any signed application. Complaints from clients must be recorded and passed to the compliance officer within five working days.